Dear Prospective Participants:

Please READ CAREFULLY the following logistical and technical materials so you're 100% prepared for the technical workshop.
See you in Sacramento!

New Venue
SACOG Board Room, Suite 300 (3rd floor)
1415 L Street, Sacramento, CA, 95814
Google map and trip planning function
Parking lots for cars & transit routes for buses & light rail
Trip planner for Regional Transit buses & light rail

Refreshments & Lunch:
We will provide good bagels, strong coffee, and organic juice during the morning session. You don't need to stop on the way!
Also, we will provide lunch from Chipotle to workshop participants.
Please contact me if you have dietary restrictions that preclude Chipotle, or if you'd like to explore a plan B.

Revised Agenda for the Workshop

Groundrules for Engagement

Prospective Participants and Assignments to Technical Teams

ASC Review of Scientific Papers and Summary of Key Findings

NOTE: ASC prepared this summary based on the twenty-three (23) papers contained in the electronic archive below.
This version contains comments submitted by Brock Bernstein that could not be incorporated in time for today's distribution.

An informal paper contributed by Anke Mueller-Solger regarding the estimation of X2 using DAYFLOW:

NOTE: This contribution by Dr. Mueller-Solger directly addresses aspects of the Workshop Questions contained on the draft agenda.
I'm happy to circulate to prospective participants any writings you may wish to contribute that address the questions.

A narrative about the modeling of X2 and the low salinity zone:

Thanks, Tim
